

Victoria Labalme

“When a truly entertaining performance expands the mind and lifts the spirit – it just may be that’s as good as it gets.”

If you want an alternative to stiff talking heads, the unreadable chart slides and shallow motivational platitudes...you need Victoria Labalme.

Stanford educated and with advanced training in performing arts, Victoria’s been generating acclaim and applause in movies, off-Broadway shows, television, comedy clubs, theatre documentaries, HBO productions and many original short films. And now she brings her remarkable talent to building positive and results-oriented corporate cultures.

Victoria will incorporate one of her acclaimed one-woman shows into a customized performance totally aligned with your theme or goals.

Icebergs in Africa ~ Comedy and heart-stopping drama that invites the audience to reconnect with their own lives and recognize what truly matters.

Life is a Gift – Open it! ~ A multi-media mind-bending extravaganza that inspires people to open the full potential of their lives and discover their power to change the world.

Crazy, Busy, Nuts: Getting off the Conveyor Belt of Life ~ For people overwhelmed with their ‘to-do’ list. Hilarious commentary on our obsession with busyness and the chaos and lack of results it produces. More importantly, the audience learns what they can do about it!

To engage Victoria for your corporate event contact:

“My entire sales force was laughing, listening, applauding and – most importantly – learning. Victoria rocked the house!” M. Scirratt, Administaff

“She completely broke the mold...it was unlike any other presentation we’ve ever had! People are still talking.”
J. Kallmeyer, Interstate Hotels & Resorts

“You inspired my entire team tremendously...Thank you for a great performance we’ll never forget.” R. Freeman, Starbucks

“Every person she’s touched within our company has walked away in awe and is now able to realize more of their potential.”
