Dear Byrd:

The word is out! Your presentation at our State Farm agents' sales rally was the most talked about presentation we've heard in years! I have asked many of the agents what it was that made your message so meaningful, and the answer always came back the same: Byrd Baggett simply presents himself as one of absolute conviction—one who has an interest in and a concern for every member of the audience. And throughout your message – whether talking about attitude, sales, customer service, or balancing your life – you demonstrate a unique ability to bring enthusiasm, information and passion together in a very positive learning experience.

I am aware that you are now presenting before many State Farm groups all around the country and I am also aware that those audiences are reporting those same rave reviews. The word is out on Byrd Baggett – and the word is “outstanding!”

Thanks for your contributions. Life is good!
