Why Are Women So Strange
And Men So Weird?

At the heart of any practice are relationships among staff, patients, and doctors. There is a lot that can be learned from the office! This session takes a very humorous look at how men and women think, speak, and make decisions differently. Interpersonal effectiveness is a key factor in personal and practice success. Laugh & learn about men and women. AGD

The Photographer in Las Vegas by Bruce Christopher

SOLD OUT AGAIN!

Psychologist and Humorist, Bruce Christopher, was sold out at the annual Texas Dental Convention in May.

This is as per usual. . .

- Christopher typically sells out to standing room only crowds at conferences. In fact, many times, the local Fire Marshall has had to direct traffic away from the doors for safety and not let anyone else in for the show.
- The program was so successful, that the Texas Meeting invited Bruce back for a quick return engagement for their next year's convention.
- He can't wait!

In July, I had the honor of speaking at PennWell Corporation's UNDER ONE ROOF CONFERENCE at the Rio in Las Vegas.

What a great experience! 2,000 dental hygienists from around the country were gathered for this prestigious venue.

It was a 109 degrees outside, but very cool inside as I took the main stage on the morning of the general opening session.

The conference manager wanted me to speak about communication effectiveness — specifically they wanted one of my signature programs entitled,

Kick Off

The "Kick Off's" for the new year are on!

New York Life Pacific Zone Region, Thrivent Financial of St. Louis, Horace Mann in Las Vegas, and Creative Financial of Philadelphia

WHY ARE WOMEN SO STRANGE & MEN SO WEIRD? It is a hilarious yet content filled keynote on how men and women think and communicate differently.

What laughter from the group!

After the venue, as I was leaving the conference hall — a photographer stopped me in the corridor and said, "I have worked these programs in Las Vegas for 25 years, and photographed 2 or 3 hundred speakers, and you are by far the best I have ever seen."

He really said that, and I was so grateful for his words. Thank you very much!

— all had Bruce be their motivational keynote speaker to Energize and Enter-Train these financial consultants to take risks, face their fears, and launch themselves out of their comfort zones.

It worked. Each organization is having Bruce Back this year for another experience of "Comedy with Content."
