

2011: A Meeting Planner's Odyssey

Let's be honest. 2009 and 2010 have been back-to-back years from hell, navigating the most challenging economy of our times. Quarter after quarter of delivering more with less in the midst of a constantly changing playing field. And now, it's time to lay out your strategy for the road ahead in front of the frontline team. The team is solid, and the plan is strong, but the real question is: where's the energy going to come from? After so much serious business, how can you send them home not just re-motivated, but reinvigorated?

The answer is laughter, and that's no joke. When it comes to stress management, research proves that laughter offers a remarkable ROI. It reduces tension, improves perspectives, releases endorphins, and refreshes mind, body, and spirit. Best of all, it really is contagious. Whether opening or closing your conference, there's nothing like laughter to get the conversation started and keeping it going.

That's just one reason Chris Bliss should be a part of your next meeting. Start with "one of the brightest comedians around" (according to Jay Leno), add in the best closer anywhere (Chris's amazing juggling finale), top it off with years of experience crafting shows for America's top companies, and you've got a winning keynote presentation.

With a show that's always original, timely, and tailored to your group, Chris Bliss doesn't just entertain. He energizes. Isn't that what you're looking for, now more than ever?

Recent Client Comments

"Chris was awesome. He came to our meeting, picked up stuff our producers were presenting to their peers, and worked it into his show. It was hilarious and the crowd loved it. The juggling at the end absolutely blew everyone away and ended a great show on a fantastic high and buzz. A highly memorable note and with a large exclamation mark!"

- Paul Eder, Protective Life

"Thank you so much for such an outstanding performance! Your presentation was crisp and fresh, and your talent as a juggler had everyone mesmerized. Again, thank you for an outstanding close to our event!"

- Victoria Wheeler, MHIA Dir. of Meetings

"Our event was awesome and we loved Chris Bliss. He was unbelievable (and well worth it). You made a great call!"

- Gene Beach, AHPA

Topics: Commitment to Excellence, Comedian, Facilitator, Mastering the Basics, Master of Ceremonies