

WHAT'S WORTH WATCHING

SEPT. 12-18, 2011 • SPECIAL ISSUE

AMERICA NOW

We've never had so much information at our fingertips, yet we've never been so clueless. No worries. Leeza Gibbons is coming to the rescue with America Now, the daily half-hour advice show she cohosts with Bill Rancic of the Style Network's Giuliana and Bill. "I consider this life support," says Gibbons. "We're overwhelmed to the point of numbness with all the info that's thrown at us each day, so whatever the topic—how to file your taxes, how to brat-proof your child, how to protect yourself from cyber creeps—we're breaking it down into digestible nuggets."

Each segment runs just two to three minutes and then "pushes viewers toward the Web for deeper resources" says the ex-Entertainment Tonight anchor, who hasn't done daily TV since her chat show Leeza ended its six-year run in 2000. "I'm so glad to be back in something so relevant," she says. "This was the dream program coming along at the perfect time."

PREMIERES
Monday, 9/12, Syndicated
americanownews.com;
Twitter:
@AmericaNowNews