

Kevin E. O'Connor, CSP is a professional speaker, teacher, consultant and author. Kevin teaches at Chicago's Loyola University, is a corporate consultant, and the father of a 21 year-old student who is blind who attends George Washington University in DC.

Kevin is one of 570 persons in the world to hold the Certified Speaking Professional designation (CSP), the highest earned designation in professional speaking.

Kevin is a past president of NAPVI, The National Association for Parents of Children Who Are Visually Impaired. Kevin has presented at COSB, AER, Jo Taylor, and at many of the schools for children who are blind or visually impaired. He is a contributor to three books on blindness and is the author of five more.

Visually Impaired Programs:

Working Effectively with Parents
Helping Your Child Become as Independent As Possible
Working with Your Child's School and Your Child's Teacher
Living and Working with (Sometimes) Difficult People