

Rome Madison is an author and expert on innovation. He has mastered the fine art of falling flat on his face, and getting up with grace.

As a college football star, Vice President in the medical sales industry and now entrepreneur, Rome knows what it takes to overcome obstacles and innovate to better your best and sustain success.

Although Rome's achievements are impressive, it was a series of tragic and humbling events that inspired him to Claim His Star Power!

Rome says, “Star Power is your inner ability to create more of what you want in life, by doing more with what you already have.”

Rome has devoted his life to helping others tap this power to achieve their goals and dreams.