

STAGE INTRO

Our speaker today is a Wall Street Journal bestselling leadership author on the topics of...team connection, generational differences, and the future of work.

His latest book, Connectable: How Leaders Can Move Teams From Isolated to All In, has helped hundreds of leading companies like Netflix, State Farm, and Salesforce build stronger teams and cultures.

For over a decade, his thought leadership as a speaker and consultant has been featured in Forbes, Fortune, and CNBC.

When he is not speaking and writing, you can find him sampling craft beers around the world; or with his wife...ring-leading the circus that is their 3 children and yellow Labrador at their home in Atlanta, GA.

Please join me in welcoming—speaker, author, and way-below-average golfer...Ryan Jenkins.
