ELEVATOR PITCH:

Chad Foster is a job creator, billion-dollar revenue generator, change management leader, innovator, and successful corporate exec. What's not so obvious? He's blind. Yet when Chad engages audiences, he makes it clear that he didn't let his loss of eyesight as a young adult confine him. He tackled obstacles as opportunities, becoming the first blind graduate of Harvard Business School's leadership program and later developing software to do what Oracle said couldn't be done.

Now Chad teaches that same overcomer mindset to corporations worldwide, delivering practical strategies to build resilience in challenging circumstances. Helping others to transform their difficulties into opportunities is an outcome that he honestly considers worth his loss of eyesight.
