HELLO! I'M JOSHUA.

As a #1 best selling author, TEDx programmer, keynote speaker, adventure seeker, and proud father of 3, I've traveled the globe empowering leaders and individuals with the tools to bring Purpose to the forefront of the future of work.

Having studied workplace behavior and human capacity for over 15 years, I've identified a critical missing element that is within most organizations and teams. When applied, this element enhances organizational culture, employee experience, and team effectiveness. That missing piece is Purpose.

When I'm not empowering organizations, I live in Texas, spending my free time seeking out deep life experiences with my lovely wife and 3 spirited children.

CULTIVATING THE FUTURE OF EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE

Right now, in the modern world people are facing a level of uncertainty that has never before been experienced and it's having a significant impact on our teams and our work. People have become overwhelmed, burned out, unfulfilled, and lost. But it doesn't have to be this way.

This session provides tools to help individuals break free of the day-to-day minutia, the tasks, functions, and responsibilities in our roles. We forget what doing great work means to all those that depend on us. I want to help your audience remember.

In this session, leaders will:

- Obtain tools for cultivating a unique employee experience
- Learn how to enhance resilience and eliminate workplace toxicity
- Discover the secret for finding fulfillment and purpose beyond pay and benefits
- Find out how to rediscover, reclaim, and reconnect to a deeper sense of purpose

UNLOCKING HUMAN CAPACITY

TAPPING INTO LATENT POTENTIAL

What if we could tap into the full potential of our teams? We can. Unlocking human capacity in the workplace revolutionizes businesses by fostering a culture where individuals reach their full potential, which drives innovation, productivity, and resilience. When employees are empowered, they bring fresh perspectives, problem-solving skills, and a stronger commitment to organizational goals. This leads to improved teamwork, higher job satisfaction, and lower turnover. Ultimately, organizations that invest in developing human capacity cultivate a thriving, adaptable workforce that delivers sustainable results and a significant competitive advantage in the market.

In this session Leaders will learn:

- How to identify and leverage individual strengths to boost productivity and engagement within teams.
- Strategies for fostering adaptability, resilience, and continuous learning across all organizational levels.
- Techniques to nurture an inclusive, innovative workplace where collaboration and creativity thrive.

CHANGE, ENGAGE, EVOLVE

SIMPLIFYING ADAPTATION

The world is changing at a record pace and today's teams are tasked to do more with less. They are also expected to remain engaged while facing an unprecedented shift in the traditional workplace. Cultivating resilience in each employee is necessary during transitional times, and it starts with realigning each team member with the meaning of their role in their organization. Joshua's presentation will amp up the enthusiasm in your organization and rekindle engagement, commitment and trust between leaders and team members.

In this session Leaders will learn how to:

- Reduce the negative impact change has on an organization
- Empower their team to use change as a positive catalyst
- Combat common workplace traps and how to avoid the spread of toxicity within your teams
- Move their team beyond daily tasks and into a state of deeper purpose

TESTIMONIALS

Every year, our healthcare organization holds an annual event for our multi-state members. Every year, we must search for a speaker that can best deliver an inspiring message that our members will think about beyond the event. This year we were fortunate to find Joshua Evans and knocked it out of the park! Joshua not only provided an engaging, fun and inspiring message, he connected to our mission and the work that our members do every day in their communities. We strongly recommend him for your next event!
