

Alex Dorr

BIOGRAPHY

Alex Dorr, M.S., CSP
CEO, Keynote Speaker
Reality-Based Leadership

Alex envisions a world where work is effortless, and teams are drama-free.

As a keynote speaker and CEO of Reality-Based Leadership, Alex collaborates with organizations and leaders globally to help them ditch the drama, build alignment in their teams, and call those they lead to greatness.

Everything that Alex does as a speaker reveals to audiences that success and happiness is their natural state as a human being – once the drama is gone. His innate ability to connect with audiences of all sizes helps those experiencing success in their career to do it even more effortlessly, while those struggling with their workplace reality realize the same job they found themselves upset with today, becomes the job they look forward to and love tomorrow.

His work helps organizations exchange the endless argument for a DIFFERENT workplace reality for a shifted perspective that enables them to start achieving more success and fulfillment in their CURRENT workplace reality.

As a highly sought-after leadership expert, Alex was recently awarded the highly coveted CSP (Certified Speaking Professional), placing him among the top 5% of speakers worldwide.

Alex hosts the Reality-Based Leadership Podcast, a top 2% podcast in the world, where he shares his journey, stories, and insights directly with thousands of leaders weekly to help them ditch the drama, modernize their leadership approach, and call their teams to greatness. His bi-weekly Reality-Based Leadership Newsletter reaches an audience of nearly 40,000 "drama-defusers" who are leading at the highest level in many of the top companies in the world.

He holds a MSc International Business from the University of Derby (United Kingdom) and his client list includes Bank of America, Salesforce, Nationwide, John Deere, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), Washington Commanders (NFL), Medtronic, Kaiser Permanente, Eli Lilly and Company, Mayo Clinic, Stanford Medicine, Adobe, the U.S. Department of Commerce, and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), among others.