

HEATHER MILLS

MOTIVATIONAL, BUSINESS AND AFTER DINNER SPEAKER.

Heather Mills is a globally renowned Keynote speaker who has been inspiring communities, business leaders, employees and charities around the world since 1994. Having experienced near-fatal injury, Heather went on to originate pioneering charities and technologies, lead the global development of plant-based foods and other products, spearhead the campaign for justice against corrupt global media conglomerates, and set 4 world records in the field of winter sports. Heather has spent her life overcoming adversity and quite simply achieved the unachievable. Labelled as 'the most impactful speaker' ever to work with them by many of her previous clients, Heather has historically addressed audience sizes ranging from 30 up to 3,500 spanning timeframes of anything from 20 minutes to 2 hours.

Richard Branson

"I really do believe she is 100% genuine and I would kill for her, and I think anyone else who got a telephone call would kill for her, and when I say for her, it's for the other people that's she's fighting for."

Hillary Clinton

"Through her vital work to keep people safe from landmines and in her devotion to others causes that matter so much to so many she has touched and transformed the lives of literally thousands and thousands of people around our world. She has accomplished so much and she has inspired so many people along the way."

Larry King

"Heather Mills is a dynamic personality with a wealth of knowledge about global humanitarian issues. She is passionate about her focus on nutrition and healthy living, animal rights, AND her life's story is both riveting and remarkable."

Mark McCormack

"I think she has an extraordinary personality, engaging personality, very magnetic personality. It is a story of determination, it is a story of perseverance. What she has gone through in her life, and what she has been able to accomplish is positively mind blowing and so I think people want to hear about someone who can have a lot of adversity and come back and turn that into such positive things."

BIOGRAPHY

Inspiring Change Through Resilience and Compassion.

Heather Mills is an extraordinary individual who has triumphed over adversity and emerged as a beacon of strength and inspiration. With an engaging personality and an unwavering commitment to making a positive impact, Heather has captivated audiences worldwide with her remarkable life story and her relentless pursuit of change. As a speaker, she shares her experiences and insights, leaving audiences empowered and motivated to overcome their own challenges.

Heather's journey is a testament to the power of resilience and determination. Despite facing numerous obstacles throughout her life, including the loss of her leg in a tragic accident, she has transformed her personal struggles into a force for good. Having lost her leg in an accident involving a police motorcycle in 1993, Heather turned to veganism to facilitate her physical recovery and eventually established the globally renowned VBites Food business, which employs hundreds of staff and comprises the largest plant-based-only production facilities in the world. VBites is now a leading manufacturer of around 140 meat-free, fish-free, and dairy-free plant-based alternatives, serving customers in 24 countries for over 30 years.

In addition to VBites, Heather is the founder of numerous other plant-based businesses such as VOmega3, a vegan algal oil company, and Be-at-One, a vegan makeup business. She has also invested in various plant-based start-ups through her 'VBites Ventures' portfolio, providing small companies with the facilities and a platform for growth.

A relentless advocate for human rights and welfare, Heather has also become a global leader in the fight against landmines, an ambassador for amputees, and a champion for individuals with disabilities. She counts perhaps her most significant achievements as being in the charitable sector. Heather founded and supported 'Adopt A Minefield,' an organization responsible for clearing 21 million square meters of landmines in war-torn areas globally. She has also established multiple amputee clinics worldwide, helping over 400,000 amputees, raised substantial funds for major disasters such as the Twin Tower attacks and the Gujarat earthquake in India, and played a pivotal role in the EU ban on dog and cat fur procurement. Heather also spearheaded and won the biggest libel media case in history against News Corp, having championed hundreds of victims of media hacking and intrusion over two decades.

Beyond her activism, Heather has pushed the boundaries of what is possible for individuals with disabilities. As a four-time world record holder, she has shattered stereotypes and proven that determination knows no bounds. Whether it's bobsledding, skeleton racing, ski jumping, or achieving the title of the fastest disabled woman on Earth (2023 - Guinness World of Records, Speed Ski Record Holder), Heather has consistently defied expectations and inspired others to embrace their own potential.

Inspiring Change Through Resilience and Compassion.

Recognized as an influential figure by renowned personalities and organizations, Heather's impact is felt on a global scale. Mark McCormack, the founder of IMG, has described her as 'positively mind-blowing,' emphasizing her ability to turn adversity into positive change. Even former U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton was inspired by Heather's passion, acknowledging her instrumental role in organizing the benefit concert that raised millions of dollars for the families affected by the September 11th attacks.

Heather's impact extends far beyond her own accomplishments. Through her innovative initiatives, such as educating prisoners in the prison service to fit over 27,000 individuals with reused artificial limbs, she has empowered countless individuals to regain their independence and reclaim their lives. Her legacy lives on through the Heather Mills Fellowship, a prestigious program created by Professor Richard Matthew of the University of California, dedicated to advancing research and innovation in prosthetics and rehabilitation in war-torn countries.

Heather's multifaceted journey encompasses activism, entrepreneurship, athleticism, and resilience. Her ability to overcome adversity and channel her experiences into meaningful endeavors has positioned her as a trailblazer in various fields. As a speaker, Heather brings a unique perspective that combines her entrepreneurial expertise, personal triumphs, and unwavering commitment to social change. Her captivating presence and powerful storytelling will undoubtedly inspire audiences and ignite a passion for making a difference in the way we live, the way we eat, and the way we perceive ourselves, our challenges, and other people.

She is truly a motivational speaker.

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

Yorkshire International Business Convention

"Heather has received the highest ratings at many of the venues. Limra International awarded her 4.7 out of 5, the highest they have given, when speaking at the same conference as Mark McCormack and Neil Armstrong."

Clarissa Baldwin, Secretary and Chief Executive, DogsTrust

"A heartfelt thank you for taking the time out of what I appreciate is a rather gruelling schedule at the moment and for coming to Ljubljana to be part of what has been a most successful conference. We couldn't have been more grateful. Your presentation was perfect for the close of the conference and was just what was required as a finishing note. You have lived an amazing life and carried out most valuable work and we thank you for your passion for the welfare of animals."

D. St. B Sladen, Director, Limbless Association

"I wish to thank you for giving such an admirable address at our AGM. It certainly aroused a great deal of interest and so did your book. We are very grateful to you for giving the time when I know you are so busy."

Deborah Burrows, Rotherham Junior Chamber of Commerce

"I am delighted to say our Conference was a great success with many compliments from delegates regarding Heather Mills' speech. She was an absolute tonic. Her talk was interesting, humorous and yet was delivered with great humility. Our delegates were very pleased to be able to talk to her during lunch - this made it much more personal and she made everyone feel at ease."

Vanessa Hemingway, Barnsley and Doncaster

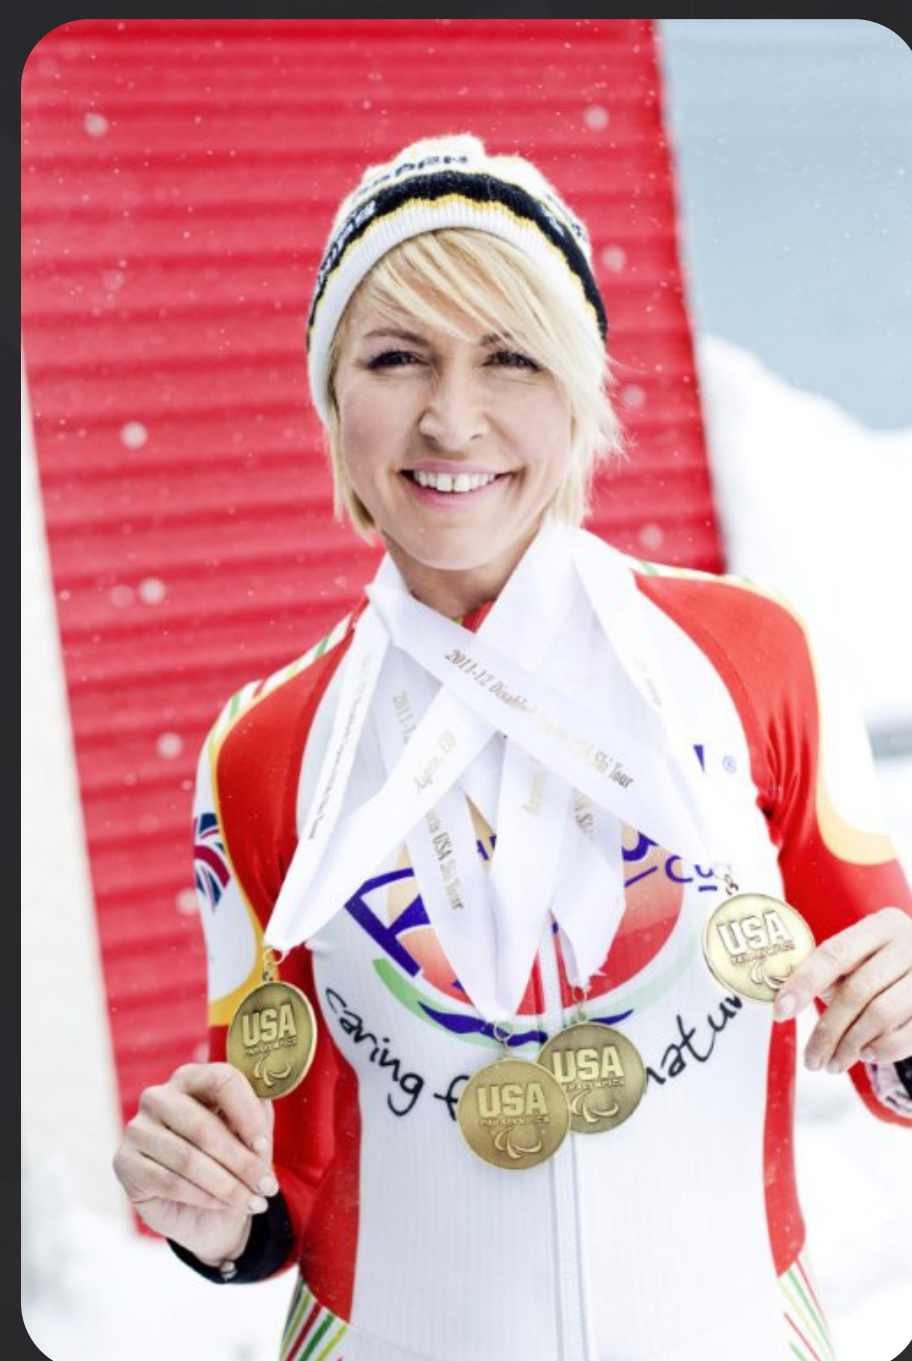

"The evening was a huge success, and you went down a storm. I have had a lot of great feedback from people, many who wish they could achieve as much as you have in such a short time, me included."

Andrew Macdonald, Speakers for Business

"You were rated as the best speaker that they had ever had and I received the following delegate comments: The speaker was refreshing and stimulated a fresh set of values; The speaker was brilliant; The speaker was 'An Inspiration'; I thoroughly enjoyed the speaker - very approachable and down to earth and speech very entertaining; I enjoyed the speaker, she knew what she had to say and got on with it, her ability to tell her story continuously was remarkable, she kept the audience captivated. The coordinator of the event added - ...as you can see everybody thought Heather was brilliant. The ratings were between 8 and 10, nothing lower."

E Brayson, L.A.C.A. North and Scotland

"Your talk was truly inspirational, in the achievements you have made from a turbulent childhood, I think you have every right to feel very proud of your achievements for both yourself and the charity you support so vigorously... Once again, can I thank you, and on a personal level, if I ever have the opportunity to listen to you speak in public ever again I will take that choice, I could have listened to you all day!"

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

Bridget Towle, Today's Girl Tomorrow's Woman

"Your contribution to the conference was invaluable, your speech made a great impact on the younger members of the audience, who I feel took your words that 'everything is possible' away with them. Without the support from figures such as yourself, we would have a much harder task in generating interest into what is such an important topic."

Mike McGee, Landmark

"People were very quiet after your talk, which concerned me for a while until I gradually realised that you had made a huge impact, and they were just thoughtful - I guess I am just not used to our delegates being that quiet."

R.M.R. Taylor, Asda Great North Millennium Transplant Games

"I am writing to express my grateful thanks to you for coming to our transplant games on Sunday. We appreciated having you with us and the competitors enjoyed receiving medals from you. I hope you enjoyed meeting the transplant recipients. They have had their share of troubles in the past and have a bravery similar to the people you help."

Richard Lloyd, Landmine Action

"You made a terrific impact not only on the governments there but also on the landmine survivors, who all really appreciated the time you spent with them. Government representatives referred to your speech during the first session the following day, so they were listening!"

Debi Brunt, Institute of Healthcare Management

"I have felt compelled to write to you after being privileged to hear you speak at the Conference for the Institute of Healthcare Management. My husband is the outgoing President and I have been fortunate to attend most of the conferences over his time in Office. I have to say I have never heard anyone who has moved me as much. I hope you don't find that remark patronising as it is from admiration I speak. I can only say that you are a wonderful source of inspiration to us all not to accept less than is possible and to strive for the improbable but with belief in ourselves... You deserve to be happy and loved for the very rare and special person you are."

Peter Metcalf, IBS/Amway

"I had the great pleasure to be in the audience at the Cardiff International Arena when you addressed the IBS Amway distributors. We have had many fine speakers covering all fields of physical, courageous and momentous achievement in our excellent programme of motivational seminars... and whilst marvelling at their achievements, I have never been as impressed and moved as I was by you. We have been involved with Guide Dogs For The Blind as puppy walker fundraisers for many years, and have 2 adopted children, and I consider us very caring people. I have never worked for anyone other than myself for the last 30 years since the age of 20, and am not impressed easily, but you humbled me in hearing what you have achieved despite all the difficulties and setbacks to become the wonderful person that you have become. A better example to the whiners of this world could not be found for taking control of your own destiny and changing, leading and motivating others to be the best that they can be. I know that your journey has a long way to go, and I realize how much I still have to do to even come close to a small amount of what you have achieved so far, but I now know I have to try harder and work faster."

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

Caroline Casey, The Aisling Project

"Thank you for agreeing so readily to come on board and be our headline speaker. I admired you before the event I'm bowled over now... The response from people and organisations has been fantastic and we wanted to let you know the admiration and inspiration due to your personal contribution has been immense. So often people say we couldn't have done this without you'. This is absolutely not a cliché. Thank you so much for being courageous in taking the mike and being a role model supreme."

Lindsey Harman, Employment Service

"We have already started to review some of the delegate feedback and there have been many positive comments about your input. 'Heather Mills for Prime Minister' and 'wonderful, inspirational climax by Heather Mills' are just two of the many enthusiastic comments made by delegates following your presentation."

Richard Matthew, Associate Professor of International Relations and Director, Centre for Unconventional Security Affairs, University of California, Irvine.

Heather's talk was fantastic. Heather is able to do a number of quite remarkable things in a very short period of time. She comes across as very real, totally unpretentious, and deeply committed. She inspires people in a very direct and immediate way. At one level people are aware that Heather is wholly unique and has packed several lifetimes of achievement into less than half a lifetime. But at the same time, listening to Heather these same people experience a very real sense of their own potential-/ can make a difference. She is funny, quick and clearly very intelligent and focused. Because of this she comes across as trustworthy and reassuring. When she says, this is possible, she is completely believable. I have given and attended hundreds of talks in my life--from nervous graduate students to accomplished leaders like Queen Noor and Bill Clinton. I have never seen anyone win a group over so quickly and so completely. I have never seen a crowd leave a room expressing such enthusiasm for making the world a better place. I felt honored to be standing beside her."

Kathryn Knott, Juvenile Diabetics Research Foundation.

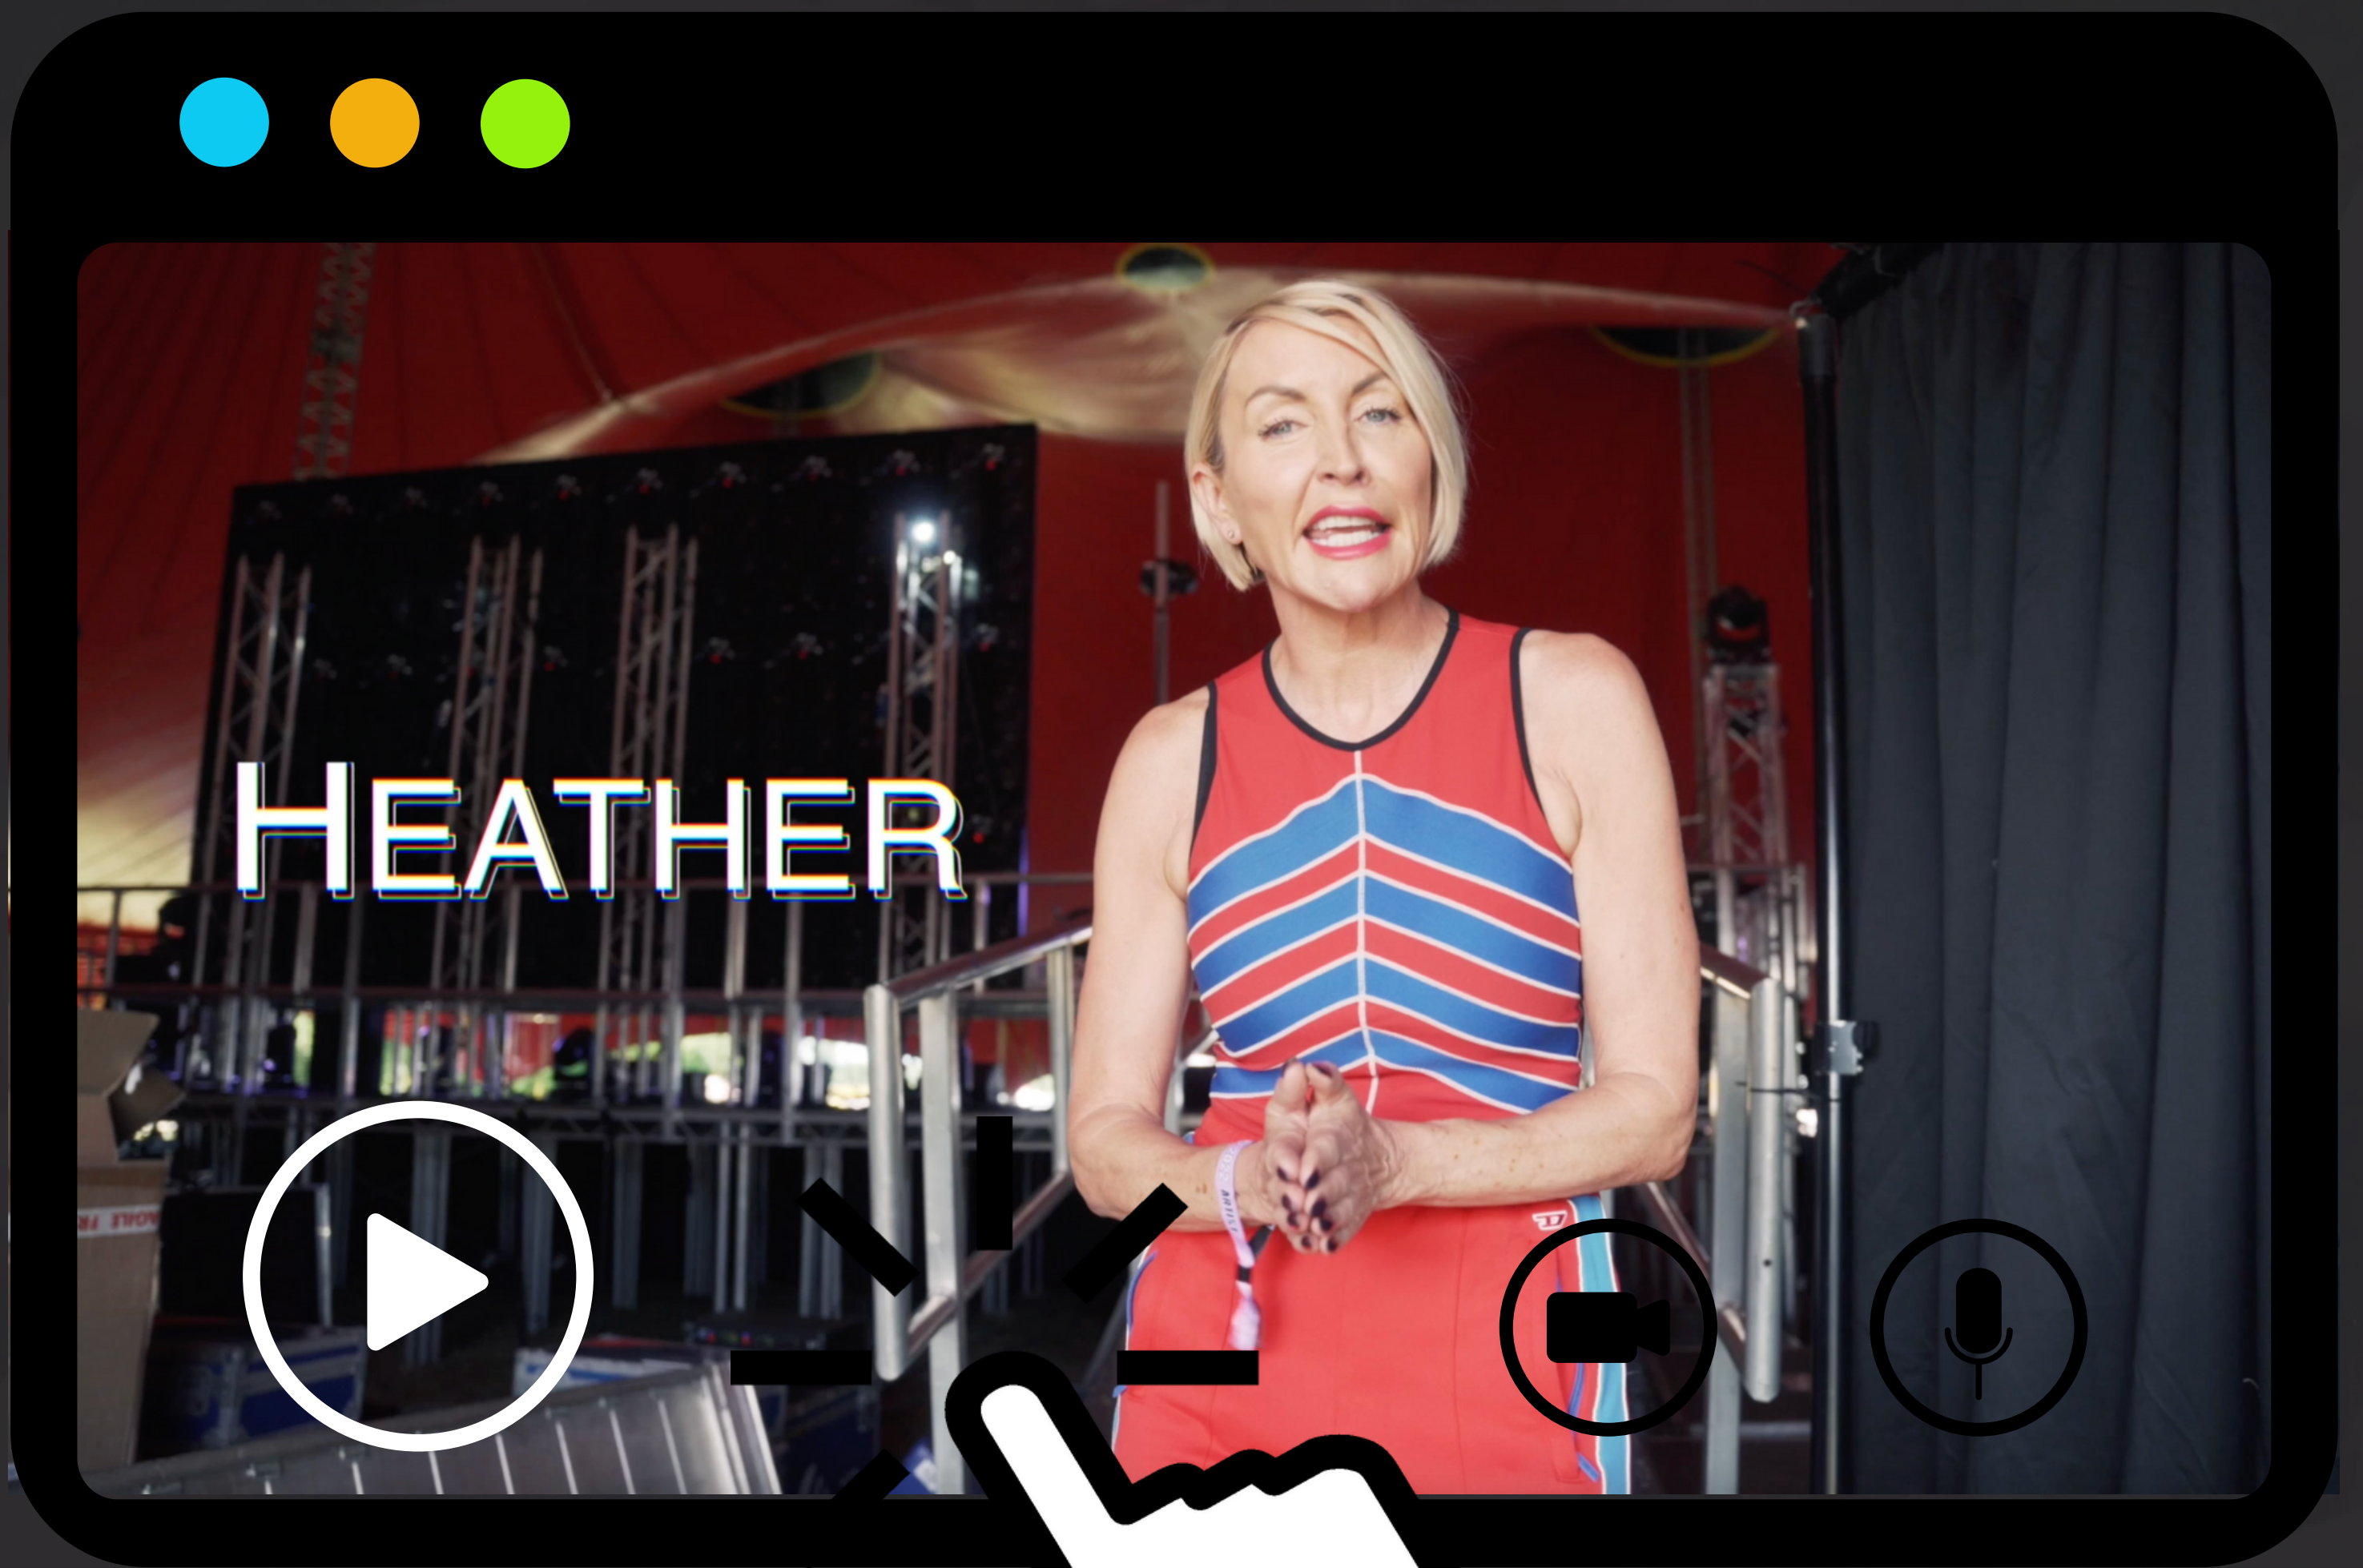

"Heather Mills was a delightful Guest Speaker at The Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation Fundraiser in Houston, Texas. She entertained the audience of 500 with stories of her childhood as well as her adulthood and how she lives life daily as a "Strong Woman," the theme of our event. She was a pleasure as a guest and was a definite drawing card that helped us sell out the room on this, our first time event!."

Ralph J. Cicerone, Chancellor, UCI, Irvine

"Heather's life story and her honesty about her own background provided a heartening role model to those who attended. The description of her physical dilemmas in such a down-to-earth, and sometimes amusing manner created an admirable background for her innovative strength of purpose concerning the landmine problem. Probably the most common word I heard used to describe the event was "inspirational." Also, I thought "this woman is superhuman" and then she would say something that proved she is human, and that humans can do great things. Heather is an excellent speaker with an engaging style, and her remarks were very well appreciated by UCI's students, faculty and community friends. I know that I speak for all those at UCI who were privileged to attend Heather's talk, when I extend our thanks and appreciation for her visit."
