

JASON MAROTZKE

National Professional Speaker,
Northwestern University Affiliate Professor, &
Human Rights Campaign (HRC) Trainer

Testimonials

Jason is an outstanding educator and presenter. Having attended his breakout sessions and keynotes at counseling conferences, I've witnessed his engaging and humorous style. From Tech Tools to HRC's Welcoming Schools, Jason's expertise spans diverse topics. His unique approach, like the interactive "The Use of Improv in Counseling," makes learning enjoyable. Trained by the Human Rights Campaign, Jason excels in corporate and counseling trainings on intersectionality, LGBTQIA+ awareness, and discussions on race and culture. With 15 years as a school counselor and adjunct professor, he brings invaluable experience to education. Jason fosters a safe environment for crucial discussions. Highly recommend!

Amy Mooney PhD

Ames & Des Moines Therapy & Consulting

I am pleased to recommend Jason Marotzke for any number of opportunities. Jason's strength is his adaptability and listening skills, which combine to create effective solutions. Jason's listening skills, adaptability, and attunement ensure relevant and useful outcomes, from creating meaningful content to providing clinical supervision, teaching courses, and constructing keynote talks for a wide range of audiences. I have witnessed Jason's ability to convey information in various settings and he is dynamic, engaging, and appropriately entertaining. Furthermore, he is very open to feedback and collaborates very well with our teams. Jason meets or exceeds expectations every time I have worked with him. Again - I am pleased to recommend him!

Stephanee Standefer, PhD, LCPC (IL), LPC (TX)

Speaker, Author, Counselor, Educator, Supervisor

JASON MAROTZKE

National Professional Speaker,
Northwestern University Affiliate Professor, &
Human Rights Campaign (HRC) Trainer

Jason is an outstanding advocate for clinicians. I attended his breakout sessions at counseling conferences. I've experienced how engaging, passionate and poignant he can be on mental health issues. However, he brings humor and honesty to his presentation style. Jason's expertise spans many different topics. His Improv training really aids his interaction with his attendees, as well. The 15 years spent as a school counselor and adjunct professor also helps Jason drive home any difficult topic in a straightforward manner. Strongly recommend!

Jennifer Froemel, LCPC, CIMHP

CEO/Founder Innovative Counseling Partners, LLC

I am proud to recommend Jason Marotzke as a professor, professional speaker, educator, and leadership consultant. Jason's decades of experience position him to be knowledgeable in a variety of environments. I have had the opportunity to work with Jason in many positions, including at The Family Institute's Counseling Department, American Counseling Association Governing Council, and Midwest Region Leadership, among other settings. As a colleague, Jason's calm nature, dependability, and work ethic make him an asset to any team. I have also had the privilege to both present with Jason and hear him as a solo speaker. When presenting in a team, Jason's leadership abilities help him coordinate multiple perspectives and project-manage in a way where objectives are met and successful presentations are created. As a solo speaker, Jason is educational, engaging, entertaining, and effective. He has a special talent for listening to clients and creating speeches, workshops, and other educational opportunities that meet the organization's needs and goals. Additionally, Jason's experience working with a variety of developmental phases, from children to adults, positions him to have a unique perspective on problem solving, developing creative solutions, and helping people of different generations understand each other better. I would work with Jason anytime and highly encourage others to work with him, too.

Dr. Michele Kerulis

Clinical Associate Professor and Director of Community Engagement at Counseling@Northwestern.