

P.O. Box 269, Mukwonago, WI 53149-0269
800-329-9390 | Mike@MikeDomitrz.com

MikeDomitrz.com

INTRODUCTION FOR MIKE DOM-ISH

Buckle up—our next speaker has been shaking up how organizations build powerhouse teams for 3 decades. He’s sparked real change in Fortune 500 boardrooms, elite universities—and yes, even U.S. military commands across the world.

But don’t worry—this isn’t a lecture. This is a conversation-starter.

Armed with honest truths and real-world tools that you can use the moment you leave this room, he’s known for helping leaders rethink everything they’ve been taught about how to lead.

You may have seen him on Dateline NBC, read his insights in Forbes or The Wall Street Journal—or maybe you’ve just heard someone say, “We need to bring that guy back!”

And if you watched the 1984 Summer Olympics—when the U.S. snagged its second-ever Gold in Greco-Roman Wrestling—{PAUSE} you might have seen him there... sitting in the stands as a 14-year-old next to the parents of the Gold Medalist, the late, great Jeff Blatnick. So close. Yet so very far. No worries. He coached a team to its own state high school championship in 1994.

Yes, he brings big insight—but he also brings the fun. This is someone who has:

- Scuba dived just feet from a 30-foot whale shark in Thailand (on purpose!),
- With a FEAR of heights, Conquered Angels Landing in Zion (with all limbs intact), and
- For his 55th birthday? Jumped off a 35-foot waterfall in Mexico this past February.

Today, he’s ready to jump into something even better—with you.

Want to know how to pronounce Mike’s last name? Listen here:

<https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Representing the mission of The Center for Respect centerforrespect.com